

Rodney Scout Reservation
Camp Master weekend programs
See 2018- 2019 schedule for dates

Backpacking

The camp masters demonstrate basics in how to pack what to wear and where to go backpacking. The demonstration is usually held at the Lenape hall meeting room and there is no additional cost.

The following crew does a backpacking demo:

Hastings hdjmf@verizon.net

Knots

The camp master crew runs a basic knot tying class; it covers the basic knots needed for tenderfoot and second class. The course is held at the pavilion by the Bridge house, weather permitting. There is no additional fee. The camp masters do not actually sign off on requirements, this is just to get the scouts started and practice there knots to be signed off by troop leadership later. This is for webelos or first year campers. There is no additional fee for this activity

The following crews do a knot program:

Neckerchief first aid

This is a basic first aid course run by the camp master that demonstrates how a simple neckerchief can be used for dressings, splints and etc. This is a simple course and can be attended by webelos or boy scouts. There is no additional fee for this activity. The course is normally held at the Bridge house pavilion

The following crews do the neckerchief first aid:

Open air cooking

This demonstration is the basics in cooking over an open fire. It starts with how to prepare a fire, how to prepare equipment and leads into more advanced ways of cooking outdoors. This demo is for all campers and there is no additional fee. The demo is usually held at the Bridge house. This program is only done by request with advanced notice

Orienteering

The camp masters demonstrate basic orienteering and show scouts how to use a map and compass. The event is reinforced with a compass game and a short course around camp. There is also a compass course around the camp that campers are able to do by getting master maps from the camp masters. The demo is usually held at the Bridge house. There is no additional fee for this activity

The following crews do the orienteering demo:

Murray ralphw3fme@aol

Paul Bunyan

The camp masters do hands on demo on how to properly use a knife and axe. The crew does Requirements 3 and 4 of the Paul Bunyan award. This is usually held for older scouts but anyone can attend. Anyone interested will need to be physically able to cut down a tree and cut it into useable lengths (see Paul Bunyan requirements in your requirement book). If you have younger boys in your group they will help with the “Tot and Chip” award.

The following crew does the Paul Bunyan demo:

Breakiron                      dbreak54@aol.com

Rifle range

The participants are given the standard safety orientation and then allowed to shoot 22 gauge rifles. The number of times a scout gets to shoot depends on the number of participants involved. Each scout is given ten shots each time he comes up. The range is run by NRA trained instructors on our rifle range and we supply the ammo and rifles. This is for boy scouts only not cubs! There is a cost of two dollars per person per day to defer the cost of equipment, targets, and ammo.

The following crews do a rifle range program:

Paulachok                      paulachok@comcast.net

Dolinger                        dolingerw@aol.com

Murray                         bugmann001@aol.com

Scavenger hunt

This is just a fun type activity where the scouts are given a list of items and a map to find their way around camp. It allows them to work on their basic map and orientation skills. There is no additional fee for this activity. The hunt starts at the Bridge house.

The following crews do the scavenger hunt:

Norris                         rsrcampmaster@comcast.net

Jamboree on the Air - Ham Radio

Third week of October and on request. A station is set up at the bridgehouse and campers are able to experience ham radio operations and see how a system works by talking to people from around the world. There is no charge for this event.

The following crew does the amateur radio program:

Mann

First aid without a first aid kit

This is a very basic first aid class, which teaches the participants what to do if they are in a setting where a first aid kit is not available. The program is done to show the participants how to deal with first aid using everyday items to help a person in distress.

The following crew does this program:

Hastings                      hdjmf@verizon.net

Shotgun/ Archery

The program is actually two programs held the same day. Usually in the morning the archery range is open for an open shoot, first come first serve. And in the afternoon the shotgun range is open. There is a cost for the shotgun range of five dollars per person to cover the cost of the shells and the clay pigeons

These programs are done by:

Yanos                         byanos1088@gmail.com

All of the camp master demonstrations are usually held on Saturday afternoons on dates scheduled. They are usually a two-hour program which is meant to help you in your weekend troop camping program and not actually be the only program that the troop does while you are at camp.
