

JOHN A. WALKER

John Walker demonstrates a lifelong commitment to Scouting, beginning as an Eagle Scout in 1969 from Blue Ridge Council Troop 150 in Blacksburg, VA, and continuing through decades of dedicated adult leadership. After serving as a cubmaster and den leader from 1993-97, he became a founding member and Scoutmaster of Troop 67 at Aldersgate United Methodist Church in 1997, a position he continues to hold today. His extensive leadership experience includes over 400 nights of scout leader camping, including two trips to Philmont and two National Jamborees, while successfully mentoring 71 scouts to achieve Eagle rank. Currently serving on the Del-Mar-Va Council Advisory Board since 2015 and recently elevated to the Executive Board in 2024, he has made significant contributions to Scouting at both the troop and council levels. His dedication to the Scouting program is further exemplified through his family, as he is the father of three sons who all achieved the Eagle Scout rank.

John earned a BS in Chemical Engineering from Va Tech and an MBA from Widener University. He attended Stanford's Advanced Management Graduate College and has numerous masters-level courses in Counseling Psychology.

John retired from a diverse career working for several Fortune 500 companies, biotech start-ups and consulting organizations. His career focused upon relationship management, technical sales, manufacturing engineering, and business consulting with a strong track record of driving revenue growth and operational improvements. He successfully launched consulting solutions into Fortune 500 companies, built strategic partnerships across healthcare sectors, and managed pharmaceutical product launches while protecting significant sales revenues. His manufacturing engineering background includes developing cost-effective production processes and leading safety improvement projects across industrial sites. As a business consultant, John specialized in market access strategies, competitive analysis, and commercialization planning for biotech companies, particularly in the orphan drug space.

John is married to his wife Molly of 45 years and is the father of 3 Eagle Scout sons. He loves spending time with his 3 granddaughters on their NY farm and visiting his grandson Lincoln in Oregon. He is a member of Brandywine Valley Church and a board member of the chamber choir CoroAllegro. John enjoys camping, hiking, canoeing, fishing, singing, shooting and carpentry. He has hiked the Appalachian Trail from the Smokies to Maine and hopes his body will allow him to finish.
